Seminole State College
SUPPORT A STUDENT ARTIST

Giving just a small amount can yield huge returns!

Sometimes our students need more than just a round of applause. Book fees, instrument repairs, transportation costs or any number of unforeseen emergencies can create a financial hardship for some of our students. In those times, they need additional support to pursue their passion for the arts. That’s where you can help.

Please consider donating to one of our Foundation for Seminole State College accounts established to support our student artists. You can simply check the fund (or funds!) you wish to designate for your donation from the list below. Please include this form with your donation. Thank you for your generous support of our students.

- Art Club
- Adopt-A-Musician
- Support-An-Actor
- Gospel Choir
- Seminole State College Bands
- Guitar Ensemble

Please make your check payable to Foundation for Seminole State College, and note in the memo section to which fund you would like to contribute.

Seven Guitars* by August Wilson

Seven Guitars represents August Wilson’s 1940s chronicle of African-American life in the Hill District of Pittsburgh, Pa. This tragicomedy centers on seven characters, three of whom are professional musicians who have gathered for a wake following the funeral of their friend Floyd Barton. Through flashbacks, the audience learns the events of the past week that led to Floyd’s death. “...a play whose epic proportions and abundant spirit remind us of what the American theatre once was (before amplified glitz became dominant)...” - Vincent Canby, New York Times

Balm in Gilead by Lanford Wilson

Lanford Wilson’s Balm in Gilead, a mainstay of the off-off-Broadway movement of the 1960s, takes its title from a quote in the Old Testament: “Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there? Why then is there no healing for the wound of my people?” (Jeremiah 8:22). This quote certainly describes the plight of the characters who patronize Frank’s café in the Upper Broadway area of New York City. “Lanford Wilson’s Balm in Gilead...is a fast-paced, heart-stopping New York story.” - BroadwayWorld.com

Dead Man’s Cell Phone
by Sarah Ruhl

Dead Man’s Cell Phone is a bizarre comedy by the author of The Clean House (a finalist for the 2005 Pulitzer Prize). A young woman enjoying lunch at a small café becomes annoyed when the man sitting at the next table doesn’t answer her obnoxious cell phone. So, she does. What follows becomes a curious set of events punctuated by our heroine’s zany antics. “In Dead Man’s Cell Phone, it’s the deep-seated need for attention in all of us that Ruhl exploits, the notion that by knowing what to say, we can make someone listen to us.” - Peter Marks, Washington Post

A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum
Lyrics and Music by Stephen Sondheim
Book by Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbart

A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum won five Tony Awards. The story was inspired by the Roman playwright Plautus’ comedic plays Pseudolus, Miles Gloriosus, and Mostellaria. The farce begins when a slave named Pseudolus, with hopes of gaining his freedom, agrees to help his master win the love of the girl next door, Philia. Pseudolus’ attempts go wrong, forcing him to come up with ludicrous plans that create more problems. “Forum has remained popular for more than 40 years because of Sondheim’s brilliant score, one of his most appealing and accessible, and Gelbart and Shevelove’s uproarious book.” - J. Cooper Robb, Theatremania

“The Festival of Lights” – An Evening of Stories in Celebration of Chanukah

Featuring Southern Winds Theatre

This marks the fourth year that Seminole State College has had the pleasure of hosting Southern Winds Theatre. In 2007 and 2008, Southern Winds presented David A. McElroy’s adaptation of Charles Dickens’ A Christmas Carol, the one-man show. Last year, we were treated to A Tuna Christmas. This year will continue our holiday celebration with a nod to the festival of lights, Chanukah.
