Web Site Links
The following guide provides Web site links, a list of selected books, and access to online periodical articles about this subject. The Web site links have been researched, evaluated, and annotated by Seminole Community College Librarians. The Librarians have specifically selected these Web sites to meet the research needs of Seminole Community College students.

Educator’s Reference Desk
http://www.eduref.org/  08/09

Basically an education directory, educators will find answers to all of their questions in one of the many resources offered here. In addition to the resource links, sections on lesson planning and archived questions will help educators locate relevant information in any aspect of the field.

ERIC – Education Resources Information Center
http://www.eric.ed.gov/  08/09

ERIC is the largest education article database freely available on the Internet. You may search for scholarly and popular articles using keywords or by searching for a particular publication - just make sure to use an advanced search and search for "full-text" articles, as many articles only contain summaries and citation information.

Florida Department of Education
http://www.fldoe.org/  08/09

The home page for the Florida Department of Education offers teachers, students, administrators, and the community access to a wealth of information regarding public education in Florida. Information is presented concerning the FCAT, teacher certification, financial aid, among many other topics.

GEM – Gateway to Educational Materials
http://thegateway.org/  08/09

“This one-stop educational resource provides information, lesson plans, and activities pertaining to all K-12 subjects. Users can browse sites by subject or keyword, or they can search by subject, keyword, title, or full-text of the site description.” Over 50,000 resources can be accessed using the GEM collection.

National Center for Education Statistics
http://nces.ed.gov/  08/09

The NCES is a government-operated organization that aims to provide the most up-to-date statistics on public schools, colleges, and universities in the United States. This is by far the best place to start if you need data on school districts or demographics of students.
